What types of institutions can obtain the Bienvenue en France Label?

To apply for the Bienvenue en France Label, an institution must:

- be a French higher education institution,
- offer programs regulated by the French government or by recognized accrediting organizations,
- provide services to support international students.

The governance structure of the Bienvenue en France★ Label includes an independent committee that assesses applications from French higher education institutions.

★ France Universités (FU); CDEFI = conference of directors of French schools of engineering; CGE = conference of the Grandes Écoles; CTI = commission on engineering degrees; HCERES = high council for the evaluation of research and higher education.

The Bienvenue en France Label helps you make the most of your studies in France.

A reliable tool to help you identify the institutions that provide the help you need.
